

Mayor-President Monique B. Boulet Bio (Shortened)

Monique B. Boulet made history in January 2024 as Lafayette Parish's first female Mayor-President. Since taking office, she has focused on stabilizing operations, strengthening public safety, and advancing major infrastructure and economic development initiatives that are positioning Lafayette for long-term growth.

Her administration has prioritized transparency, modernization of government services, and strategic investment in capital improvements that directly impact residents' quality of life. Under her leadership, Lafayette is building real momentum — with record employment, expanded partnerships, and a renewed focus on revitalization.

Previously, she served as CEO of the Acadiana Planning Commission, leading regional efforts in broadband expansion, watershed management, and transportation planning.

A proud Lafayette native, she holds an Executive MBA from the University of Louisiana at Lafayette. She and her husband, David, are the proud parents of four children and remain deeply rooted in the community she now has the honor to serve.
